It is understood that guards and deputy wardens from all convict camps in the county will be called by the jury as witnesses in the probe before the investigation is ended. Plans of the jurymen for their regular session this morning were not known, but it was indicated some witnesses will be questioned on this matter today.

The grand jurors are engaged in sifting and considering testimony, given last week, that several guards have accepted "gifts" from rich prisoners in return for allowing privileges, it was understood.

Evidence to this effect was brought out in connection with the grand jury probe of the "joyride," of George Harsh, convicted "thrill" slayer, and Mark (Chicken) Chastain, who were involved in a hit-run accident while riding in a county truck in Atlanta. Camp Proposed for 'First Offender' Segregation

The Sandy Springs prison camp, a view of which is shown here, may be used for white law violators con victed and sentenced for first offenses. The proposal was offered in line with the plan for segregation of first offenders from habitual criminals. Shown here are a wing of the white camp and a section of the camp at present used for negroes. Under the new arrangement, only white offenders will be kept at the camp. "Therefore, ever since the recent decision of the supreme court was handed down. I have been studying the practical situation that confronts us in securing old-age pensions for the people of Georgia. I have held con-ferences with representatives of the federal government from whom we are ferences with representatives of the federal government from whom we are to receive one-half of the money for old-age pensions. I have had various attorneys and friends of old-age pensions studying it, too. I believe we have found a way for the general assembly to give the people of Georgia old-age pensions when it meets in January, whether or not the people get to vote on it effectively and conclusively on November 3.

"The setup for old-age pensions probably will not be as satisfactory at first as we would like to have it, and as we will finally get it; but we will be able to meet the emergency. I believe, and can lay the foundation properly. The vote of the people on September 9 was a vote for old-age pensions. The general assembly will, without doubt, respect that vote of September 9 for old-age pensions when it meets in January, regardless of september 3 for old-age pensions when it meets in January, regardless of whether or not we get to effectively and conclusively vote on the constitu-tional amendment on November 3.

"The general assembly will do whatever it takes to change the law or the constitution so as to immediately and fully carry out the expressed will of the general assembly also will change form and give our needy old people their pensions when it meets in January. REID RENEWS APPEAL FOR CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Democrats of State Responding Admirably, He Tells Roosevelt Electors.

President Roosevelt has helped every Georgian financially, and Georgians are gladly making donations to the party campaign fund to assure his reelection, Charles Reid, chairman of the Georgia Democratic executive committee, declared yesterday.

At a meeting of Fulton Democrats at the Henry Grady hotel, presided over by J. P. Allen, chairman of the Fulton financial committee, Chairman Reid said "I have no doubt at all President Roosevelt will be re-elected, but it takes money to wage a campaign and Georgia will want to do its share.

Truiling a suspicious-looking truck led yesterday to the arrest of two men and confiscation of 29 automobile tires, seven automobile wheels and an automobile adio.

The suspects gave their names as Raymond Mitchell and Fred White. They were charged with suspicion of larceny, following trailing of the truck by Patrolmen W. F. Sutherland and R. M. Holland, from a field on Piedmont avenue to a gasoline station on Techwood drive.

started too early. With the clarity of vision which hindsight affords, they can see it was impossible to maintain the early pitch of excitement continuously until election day. They are not disturbed, however, by complaints from people tired of politics, by radio trade reports indicating less listening-in, or smaller turnouts at the way stations. The approach of election day will again stir enthusiasm, they tell themselves.

This election has been the most highly publicized in American history It has also been the most analyzed—and the least understood.

Note-The only man on either side who appears really to be fresh is Vice President Garner, who has been hunting at Uvalde, but not for UNKNOWNS Most elusive factor in the election is the great number of new voters who have registered this year. It is indicated that about 44,000,000 persons will vote this year, or 4,000,-000 more than in 1932.

Inasmuch as the Democrats are only counting on a plurality of about 3,500,000 and the Republicans are hoping for about the same, it will be seen that the election may easily be decided by these mysterious 4,000,-000 whom no one knows. It is true, as Republicans say, that large registrations have usually indicated resentment against parties in power, especially in municipal campaigns. All city bosses have considered big registrations as hints of rising popular middle class wrath about to descend upon them. But there is more than a suspicion this year that an inestimable proportion of the newcomers are WPA-ers or CCC-ers who are going to the trouble to vote for the first time. MONEY The Republican exchequer has run low, but not as low as advertised. A hasty canvass was made recently for additional

Even Ex-Chairman Fletcher was sent out with a blank check book and a fountain pen. He and the other canvassers obtained enough substantial autographs to resuscitate the treasury. One inside situation which may have caused an exaggerated notion of the situation is this: Whenever one Republican headquarters faction suggests an idea, funds are always easily found to carry out the idea. But when the idea comes from the other faction, the treasury is always weak.

ONE-MAN CAMPAIGN There is one candidate who is not on the ballot, a Mr. John Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Mr. Hoover has apparently been campaigning for something or other through a series of speeches around the country, outlining the menace of crime and what he has been doing about it. Press copies of speeches by ordinary politicians are handed out in cheap mimeograph form, but Mr. Hoover's are printed by some new reproduction process which will undoubtedly put his publicity man in line for the next Pulitzer prize for typography.

Ordinarily, you would think the boss detective would not need publicity, but Mr. Hoover may. A weekly magazine recently asked: "Will the politicians get Hoover?" The article did not give the answer, but "Probably." seems to be: Hoover has rubbed many an official the wrong way. The dope is that they plan to push legislation at the next session of congress to centralize federal detective agencies, and that Hoover will eventually find himself shorn of some of his arbitrary power as well as his press agent.

TARIFF-MAKING Trade treatists within the State Department are already talking among themselves about activities they expect to start if they get the chance after election. First, they want to start a campaign of revision of existing treaties, bringing concessions "up to date" in line with exchange and quota revisions. Then they plan to go to work on congress for an immediate extension of the tem-porary reciprocal trade act under which they are working.

In conversation, they always refer to "the hopelessly unwieldy method of attempting to deal with tariff policies in congress." They do not intend to let congress get back its tariff-making powers.

There can be no denying it is cruel. But how about the riders? In the scenes I've seen the man on the tripped horse took a fall which appeared, at least, to contain just as great chance for injury as that sustained by the horse. Of course, the difference is that the man was expecting it in advance and the borse. FAIR ENOUGH | You Don't Hate Those Who Act Superior If You Know They Aren't

BY ROBERT QUILLEN. When the north and south went to war, the men on both sides elected their officers from their own ranks. That plan was dropped when it resulted in confusion and conflict, but the men in ranks never accepted the theory that an officer is any better than anybody else. Young men of pioneer stock, nurtured in the doctrine that one man as good as another if he proves himself to be, were slow to accept discipline when they were drafted for the World War.

This attitude shocked and dismayed English officials, who would have understood it better if somebody had said to them: "Imagine, if you can, an English regiment composed of colonels, with colonels as company officers and a colonel in command of the regiment. The colonels in ranks would endure discipline for the sake of victory, but they would feel no awe of the colonel in charge and they would resent any high-hatting on his part. That is the attitude of the American doughboy. He knows he and his officers are equals, and being disciplined by an equal is hard

There is no pretense in the typical American assumption that he is equal to any other man. He simply takes it for granted, as he takes freedom for granted.

He admits that other men are smarter, stronger, better educated or superior in some other detail, but he believes himself naturally, socially and personally equal to any of them. One blooded horse may outrun another, but that doesn't prove it a finer horse.

This deep-rooted conviction of equality is the hope of America in a changing world. The trouble-makers and firebrands are those alien spirits who accept the status of social inferiority in which they were born and hate their betters with an unreasoning malice born of life-long humiliation. Their desire is not to get justice, but to "get even." Their "class consciousness" is a festering resentment of another's superiority.

There is none of that in your old-stock American. He may be poor and dressed in overalls, but he feels as respectable as any president, millionaire or celebrity, and that conviction of equality will keep him sane in a world made mad by lust for revenge.

LIFE OF THE OLDEN PERSIANS
II—Religion.

A famous man of ancient times was a Greek who made far travels through the Persian empire, and wrote down things he saw and heard. His name was Herodotus, and he is known as "the Father of History." In telling about the religion of the Persians, he wrote words with this meaning:

"The Persians do not have temples or altars. It is their custom to go to high parts of mountains, and there to offer sacrifice to the sky-god.

"The person who offers a sacrifice is not allowed to pray for himself alone. He must pray for the welfare of the king, and for blessings on all the people of Persia."

When the Greek writer spoke of "A Magi," he meant a Persian in the Persian empire, and they were looked upon as "the most learned of the people and the keepers of sacred things." People would not set out on a long journey, or go ahead with any other important action, without first asking their advice. If the Magi said "No." the deed would not be done. The priests had charge of teaching young princes, and even the king ilistened to their words.

That was how things were when

That was how things were when the Persian empire was in its time of glory. In later times the Magi lost much of their power, and came to be jugglers, fortune-tellers, and workers of magic wonders. Our word "magic" came from the name "Magi."

The greatest leader of the old Persian in the control of the "magic" came from the name "Magi."

The greatest leader of the old Persian religion was Zoroaster, or "Zarathustra." He lived about 2,600 years ago, and some say he was the first Magi. His main teaching was about a god called Ormazd or Mazda. At this day his religion is followed by people called Parsees, who live in certain parts of Persia and in the Bombay region of India.

Most Persians of the present time however, have given up the old religion. They follow the faith of Mohammed.

Pilotless Locomotive Crashes in Nashville | PRESIDENT COMPARED

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19.—
(P)—A pilotless locomotive with throttle open took a five-mile run through the outskirts of Nashville today, thundering over street crossings and clattering through switches. A gallery of suburban residents watched as reports of its progress spread rapidly.

The journey ended climatically amid crashing steel and spouting steam when the engine roared into a car loaded with logs, reared into the air and tumbled, torn and twisted, to the ground. The engine used for switching by a chemical company.

Railway officials undertook an investigation to determine how the wandering switch engine got loose.

Auburn Eyes 'Frisco Jaunt ---Columbus Senses Upset

Will the class in psychology please come to attention! Auburn has started on the Giant Swing.

That's the swing to Detroit, to Columbus, to San Francisco and to Atlanta-four successive Saturdays-four weeks of listening to the clackety-clack of wheels on steel rails.

One fourth of the swing is completed. Detroit was beaten by a great battle. Back of that was a furious 0-and-0 tie with Tulane, a struggle to beat Tennessee 6 and 0.

Auburn has been standing in there straining every nerve in every game.

Now comes up Georgia.

No team has been as crippled as Georgia this season. The Knee Kap Klan has its largest membership at Athens. But against Rice Georgia showed an offense.

Thus far the record is a perfect setting for one of those upsets. No matter how much Jack Meagher warns the boys down at the Loveliest Village this week they will not believe him. The human mind, especially when encased in juvenile skulls, isn't that way. They won't regard Georgia as a tough foe.

That's how upsets are made. A team goes along and wins from the opponent, or opponents, expected to prove the toughest. And then comes along a team they never have figured as a trouble-maker.

And then it happens. All of a sudden. Auburn won't be up to the standard of the Tulane, Tennessee or Detroit games. Auburn can't be. Unless Jack Meagher is a magician his boys will be thinking—"As soon as we beat Georgia we will start for San Francisco and the Santa

The stage is set for an upset. But sometimes when all the trappings are there the over-confident team has enough power to win anyhow. Maybe Auburn has that power.

Georgia, if the team comes along many strides beyond the showing in the Rice game, can beat an Auburn team which is looking toward San Francisco.

If I had to pick a winner for the game at Columbus, I'd say, Auburn by two touchdowns. But nevertheless the stage is set for an upset. It may or may not happen. But the class in psychology has a perfect example of how upsets are made possible.

ROSE BOWL TALK.

Duke, if the Dukes win all their games, will get the Rose

And if they do, the Dukes likely will go to the bowl, the Graham plan to the contrary notwithstanding. There would be no percentage in upholding one line of the Graham plan and letting the rest of it go.

The Rose Bowl has been recognized by tradition and time as something more than just a post-season game; something more than just an ad for Pasadena real estate, which it was when the idea was originated.

The game began when a smart press agent thought it would be a good idea to let the rest of the world know California had roses while the rest of the country had ice. It was a good idea. But the game has become something more than that.

MONKEY BUSINESS.

When Trammell Scott was a lad he had the milk conces sion at the family barn. He could sell all the milk he could extract from the family herd of three cows.

The first $10 he got he sent off to a company in New Orleans which advertised pet monkeys for sale for $10. He sent them his $10 bill and they kept it but sent no monkey.

Fifteen years ago Sammy Mayer, star center fielder on the Cracker club, gave him a monkey. A few days ago the monkey bit Major Scott on the arm. His friends, whooping with laughter, called up and asked fter the monkey's health What only a few of them knew was that blood poison set in and almost cost Major Scott an arm. He was not doing so well in the hospital. A doctor was called in as a consultant. The major heard the consultant whisper: "He doesn't seem to have much resistance." When the major heard this his eyes flashed and he began

When the major heard this his eyes flashed and he began to get well. If there is one thing he prides himself on its his ability to ride a horse all day in bird dog trials. His idea was his resistance was 100 per cent.

So, he proceeded to get well.

"I am," he said, "going to get even with those guys who called up and asked after the monkey's health."

Which means the Saddle and Sirloin Club had best be careful.

WANDERPHIT AND TECH.

"Inform and may not see service Saturday.

"We played bad football against Southern Methodist Saturday and deserved to lose," said Morrison.

The coaches and players pulled out the films of 1935's Tech-Vandy game and ran them over and over to refresh their memories on the peculiarities and strong points of the Tech attack.

The game will be Vanderbilt's first in the Southeastern conference and Tech's third after winning, its first two. The Commodores, however, have VANDERBILT AND TECH. John Wilcox, who scouted Vanderbilt for Tech at Dallas i Saturday, reported the Commodores used a five-man line.

And so, b'gosh, did S. M. U. Vanderbilt couldn't stop S. M. U.'s air game. S. M. U. stopped Vanderbilt's foot troops and the air game. The five-man line, which theoretically is vulnerable against passes, was used by Vanderbilt in the Alabama game last year. Alabama couldn't hit with any passes and lost the game.

Vanderbilt showed a fine running game against Chicago. But since then the offense hasn't been present. It is very likely they will get going against the Techs on Saturday.

Wilcox thought the material was there. If Morrison can et it going, Vanderbilt should have a tough team to heat.

OLD FAITHFULS.

While a few games have been won this season by Dick Merriwell finishes, most of them are being won by adherence to fundamentals

After the Duke-Tech game Saturday I asked Wallace Wade, "On what do you think the game turned?" "I thought we rushed passes better, rushed kicks better and had a little better of the charge in the line," he

All of which is fundamental football. Which will win more football games than anything else. Coaches Alexander, Wade, Nevland, Thomas, those who have had fundamental success, are all teach is of the old-fashioned ideas about the game.

BELATED TRIBUTE.

Not enough was said about the play of Mit Fitzsimons, Tech guard, in the Duke game. Had it not been for his 15 or 20 tackles of Duke backs who spun back into the line on reverses and spinners, Duke would have been even more trouble than they were.

Big Tackle Has Attack of Boils; Collins May See Action.

By Jack Troy.

Ordinarily Monday is wash day, but those Tech Jackets yesterday spent a long afternoon at ironing out sore

Tech incurred only one real injury in the Duke game. Red Collins sustained a twisted knee.

Collins was out in a track outfit with the knee tightly taped and ran around to keep in shape.

The only other Jacket not in uniform was Phil Chance, the big tackle who has played brilliantly in the last two games.

two games.

Chance is the victim of an attack of boils. He will be all right for the Vanderbilt game Saturday at Nashville.

Collins, too, has a good chance to play Saturday. Dr. Compton reported that the injury was not serious.

MAY MISS TILT.

Jim Morgan, left end, played only two minutes of the Duke game. He hurt his shoulder again. And it may be that Morgan, despite the fact that he is out in uniform and running signals, will be held out of action this

Ed Jones played 58 minutes of the Duke game and will start at left end

The rest of the players were plenty sore physically, but all the ailments were of a minor nature and were sub-jected to the regular Monday ironing

J. L. Brooks was running with the varsity yesterday. The promotions and demotions included bringing up Brooks on offense, too.

Brooks was pleased to get the chance. He's really a sparkplug for all his lack of size. All season he has been pretty tough in scrimmage against the varsity.

DUTCHMAN ROMPS.

Dutch Konemann, well on the road recovery from an attack of tonsilito recovery from an attack of tonsilities, romped through the long workout which was devoted, in part, to defending against Vanderbilt passes, as thrown by Bobby Dodd, and for the rest of the time to Jacket offensive

The Jackets dismissed all thoughts of the Duke defeat and entered the work for the Vandy game with a will. They figure the breaks couldn't go against them so thoroughly two weeks

The Vandy game will offer Tech a thorough test in the Southeastern Conference race. They will face that old marster, Ray Morrison, who hasn't been doing so well since leaving the southwest.

The Commodores are on something of a spot since losing to little South-western and Southern Methodist on VANDY DESPERATE. The players will enter the Tech game in a rather desperate frame of mind. Vandy teams of the past haven't been used to dropping games to teams like Southwestern or getting so thoroughly licked by teams like S. M. U.

For the past two years, Tech has lost to Vanderbilt because of batted passes that fell into the arms of Commodore receivers.

And so, the work this week will largely concern either the interception or the thorough knocking down

Braddock confided to Perry yester-instituted a series of gerial and run.

Coach Ray Morrison is very gloomy over the prospect of taking the daz-zling Engineers from Tech flats, but instituted a series of aerial and running sessions that he hopes will match the flashy attack of the Atlantans.

The team came out of the S. M. U. chebacle with only one serious injury. Charley Robbins, senior end, suffered a wrenched knee which may keep him on the sidelines the remainder of the season. Savage Sam Agee, ace of the Vandy running attack, is still out of two. The Commodores, however, have lost two and Tech one outside the loop.

Defeats last week were figured to whet the victory appetites of both elevens and make the going even tougher for the two clubs, with the winner bound to take a place among the favorites for the conference crown.

Vanily not only must bounce back. Vandy not only must bounce back physically and mentally, in time for Tech, but must prepare for games with Louisiana State. Tennessee and Alabama in the next five games.

The envisioned new course—just over the ice from the north pole—has supplanted the weather as the meat of conversation during endless nights of card playing at America's northernmost settlement.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 19.—Gridiron rivalry which blossomeed forth in 1892 and has been renewed 40 times will flare up again Saturday when the University of Georgia Bulldogs face Alabama Polytechnic Institute, at Columbus.

In the series the Bulldogs hold an ge of 19 victories to Auburn's 17. The struggle is generally regarded sone of the south's most bitter as one of the south's most Wildcat Star Tops Field struggles.

With 66 Points; Weisgerber Is Second.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(P)—The list of national football scoring leaders was almost completely reshuffled in the week end's gridiron surprises, but Bob Davis, Kentucky's touchdown-producing halfback, just laughed it off and went rolling along at the head of the pack.

The Wildcats' ball-carrying ace remained the nation's and the Southeastern conference's No. 1 scorer by adding a pair of touchodwns to his already imposing list, giving him 11 scores for the season and a point total of 66.

He was one of the very few who kept their places in the list of leaders. First word from the far northwest brought information that Dick Weisgerber, Willamette fullback from East Orange, N. J., has counted six touchdowns, ten extra points and a field goal for a total of 49, and second place in the national point-making parade.

Cecil Isbell, Purdue's fullback, added 10 points but dropped to third with 44.

Other new names on the list were Pug Manders and Bob Underwood, both of Drake, who each had 42 points; Chet Smith, of the Citadel, who re-

Everyone talks in terms of a few unbeaten teams and when a football team loses you'd think the season was a total loss. The Yankees had a pretty fair baseball team last season, didn't they? They mopped up the American league and then whipped the Giants. But, for all that, they lost a batch of games to every team in the league. They were not invincible from start to finish.

Six Mat Aces

Well, as I said before, football is getting that way. There are too many strong, evenly matched teams all over the map at this time. Here and there you may get a Minnesota—but not often. This is only middle October—but just look at the list of the tied or beaten teams today—such as Pittsburgh, Princeton, Southern California, Washington, L. S. U., T. C. One of the main Rose Bowl tangles will be naming the west coast team from the Pacific conference—which eliminates St. Mary's and Santa Clara. Most of them have already been beaten or tied. Many of your citizens once lived nder the flags of other countries. You are now citizens of the United States. Although you may have read the constitution of United States, you realize better than some of us who were born here what it means. You know that you have the right to select your own representatives, in Santa Fe and in Washington; the right to discuss political questions on the street cor-ners, and to march in political pa-rades; the right to go to the church of your faith; the right to your personal liberty until a jury of your neighbors find you have committed a crime; the right to keep your cottage or your farm or your horses, if you have earned them honestly you know, without being told, that you have these rights because we

CAMPAIGN IS CLASH OF TWO IDEAS

Men and women who live their lives in the wide open spaces—on the plains and in the hills—particularly resent regimentation and dictation from Washington. As the camnation from Washington. As the campaign progresses, it is becoming more and more clear that it is a clash of two ideas of government: The one that politicians know best what is good for you, and should run your lives out here in New Mexico from a swivel chair in a Washington bureau; the other that you are still capable of self-government. of self-government.

The first is the theory of many puntries of the Old World, as well as of our opponents in the campaign; the other is the American way. And once I am elected president the American idea of a constitutional government of personal freedom will be preserved, come what will.

The people of the southwest are deeply concerned with livestock production and agriculture. For this reason I want to explain briefly the relation between the Republican plat form planks on agriculture and for-eign trade. They are closely related. FARMING IS MATTER OF NATIONAL CONCERN

OF NATIONAL CONCERN
Agriculture is a matter of national concern. For that reason if should not be made a football of politics.
In the past both political parties, because of their failure to recognize this fundamental truth, have adopted policies which have been injurious rather than beneficial to the farmers. Realiging this our platform ers. Realizing this, our platform calls for a non-political solution of our agricultural problems. We Re-publicans offer a commonsense and publicans ofter a commonsense and practical long-term program of soil conservation and an end to the defeatist policies of despair sponsored by the President. The program of the present administration has perpetuated and aggravated many of the cvils from which our farmers are now suffering.

Our program is grounded on the undeniable fact that throughout our country. American agriculture has been on an export basis—that our production has been and will for years be greater than our domestic needs. Our farmers cannot be prosperous when their foreign markets have been destroyed and their domestic markets simultaneously thrown on the mercy of foreign producers. Let's look at the record. record.

LANDON QUOTES DEMOCRATIC PLANS

The Democratic platform of 1932 said: "We favor . . . effective control of eron surpluses so that our farmers nay have the full benefit of the do-

Leonhardt was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID.

mestic market. . . . We condemn . . . the unsound policy of restricting agricultural products to the oemands of domestic markets."

In face of these solemn pledges, the President jammed through "must" legislation which has practically destroyed our foreign outlets for farm products. The volume of farm exports in 1935, according to Secretary Roper, was the lowest since the eighties. Simultaneously through the abuse of a sound doctrine of reciprocity, and as a result of other policies ity, and as a result of other policies of the New Dealers which make no allowance for nature, our domestic markets are being flooded with products produced on foreign farms.

The volume of farm exports from the United States declined in 1935 over 1932 as follows: cotton 33 per cent wheat 99 per cent flour 42 per cent, wheat 99 per cent, flour 42 per cent, lard 82 per cent, and other

During the past 3 1-2 years about 5,000,000 acres of wheat, 12,000,000 acres of cotton and 500,000 acres of tobacco have been taken out of production under been taken out of production under the New Deal policies. And the President's secretary of agriculture would have us cut another 50,000,000 acres. Hog production was reduced by required a minimum of 20,000,000 head. Simultaneously the imports of competing farm products in 1935 would have CONTINUED BENEFITS required a minimum of 20,000,000 acres to produce them on American farms.

You livestock and sheepmen of the southwest have specially good reasons to object to the policies of this ad-ministration. In the first six months ministration. In the first six months of 1934 the total livestock imports into the United States were only 48.387 head of cattle.
For the first six months in 1936

these imports had increased more than 500 per cent, to 280.103 head of cat-tle. This, you will recall, was in addition to imports of cattle in "tin hides," which have increased 19 per cent since 1932. In the first nine months of this year more than 20,000 Mexican cattle have been imported into the southwest. These imports have deprived you of a broader domestic market and better prices.

LANDON CHARGES

DOCTRINES REPUDIATED

Now I would lik to ask the President whether his policies are those of the Democratic party, which has traditionally stood for international trade Are they not in fact these trade. Are they not, in fact, those of a strange new party which has captured the federal government in the name of the party of Jefferson, Cleveland and Wilson? Has it not repudiated traditional Democratic doctrines in international trade and repudiated traditional Democratic doctrines in international trade and substituted new policies which are clearly leading us to the narrowest type of economic nationalism and other theories dangerous to America and to world peace.

I said recently at Minneapolis:
"I am opposed to a policy of isolation. I want to see a prosperous world as well as a prosperous America... A healty international trade is essential to world prosperity. Even more than this world prosperity is more than this, world prosperity is good insurance against war . . . The great enemy of world trade today . . . Is the war-inspired doctrine of isolation and its resulting demands for self-sufficiency. From this we get embargoes, exchange restrictions and trade quotas. These are the real hindrances to a healthy exchange of goods between nations. We must not join in this kind of madness. If we are to maintain our standing of living the channels of world trade must remain open."

HAVE NO QUARREL

We Republicans have no quarrel with the doctrine of reciprocity, which is Republican in its origin, but in the language of our platform "we condemn the secret negotiation of reciprocal trade treaties without public hearing or legislative approval"

Deal's program has not been so administered. It is not necessary for me at this point to discuss the servey of these negotiations, the fulfilly of the hearings which were the nature of the concessions to foreign nations granted by this administration does not merit further consideration. The farmers, who were already at a heavy disadvantage, have been called upon to make the first and major sacrifices, as 4 have pointed out, in this alleged attempt to break down barriers to the flow of international commerce. Major

Our industrial producers can adjust their affairs to existing condictions more readily than the farmers. The wise industrialist has the elements of his prosperity largely in his own hands, not so with the farmer. He must not only have the vision of the wise industrialist as to costs of production and markets, but he must also gamble with the forces of nature over which he can have no control and with which the industrialist has no concern. We Republicans will so conduct the reciprocal trade negotiations as to reopen foreign trade channels in such a way as not to penalize the American farmer or the industrial producer and workman. This can be done and it will be done once I am

The most important problem facing well is the recapture of our lost expert markets destroyed by this adport markets destroyed by this ad-ministration. Our farmers want a full have without our foreign outlets and have without our foreign outlets and unrestricted production. The barriers which have been set up by foreign nations in their desire to become self-sufficient under the threat of war, must be eliminated. Our Republican platform provides: "We will adjust tariffs with a view to promoting international trade, the stabilization of currencies and the attainment of a currencies, and the attainment of a proper balance between agriculture industry." This will be our primary duty. mary duty.

The present administration in June, 1933, fumbled a great opportunity to break the trend toward intense economic nationalism which has been spreading over the world and may shortly transform economic warfare into actual hostilities. Now after a delay of three and a quarter years, the administration apparently is be-ginning to see the error of its ways. In any event a great share of the responsibility for the extension of inginning to see the error of its ways. In any event a great share of the responsibility for the extension of international economic warfare in the meantime must rest squarely on the present administration.

peace rests upon the revival and ex-pansion of international exchange of the products of the various nations of the world, there can be neither national nor world prosperity. We Republicans pledge ourselves to do all in our power to effect such a revival. But in this process we shall not trade off the farmer, Our policies will be so co-ordinated as to give the farmer a full crop at a fair price, regain his lost foreign markets, and maintain in this country a fair exchange value between industrial and farm products. We can thus foster an everexpanding standard of living, not only ourselves, but for the entire

But do not misunderstand me. Un-il international conditions are so improved as to restore the American farmer to his proper position, we will continue ample benefits to give him that position. These benefits will be limited to the family type farm. There will be no million-dollar pay-ments to foreign corporations or ab-sentee landlords. Meantime our longterm program of soil conservation and the steady drive to regain and expand our foreign outlets, will elim-inate the cause for such payments. This is not inconsistent with a balanced budget. Freedom from crop control and the gradual recapture our foreign markets will permit us to rapidly reduce the past heavy bur-dens on the federal treasury and si-multaneously improve the farmers' multaneously improve the farmers' position. Gen. Floyd Chapter Executive Board Holds Meeting

The executive board of General John Floyd Chapter U. S. D. 1812 met recently at the Atlanta Woman's club with the president, Miss Annie Laurie Hill, presiding. It was voted that a letter be sent immediately from the executive board to the secretary of state, Hon. John B Wilson, strongly uring that he reappoint Miss Ruth Blair is state historian and director of the department of archives. An urgent plea was made for books and magazines to be sent to the merchant marine library. Members of the U. S. D. 1812 are earnestly requested to read the News Letter, their official magazine, and inform themselves about this work undertaken by the society and to make some contribution as this is one of the major projects sponsored. All contributions of books or of money may be sent to the president, Miss Annie Laurie Hill, 1150 Peachtree street, N. E., Arlanta, Ga. It is urged that these contributions be sent by October 25.

I marvel at the patience and fortitude of the people who come out in the rain to get a glimpse of the President. However, they do come out and even stand without umbrellas. It didn't rain very hard, either at the dedication of the stadium in Niagara Falls, or when we drove across the Grand Island bridges.

In Buffalo, it was just gray and uninspiring weather.
In Rochester, it began to rain in earnest, and I had a chance to test Atlantan's Wedding out my theory that my hat would withstand any amount of water, and that my Val Kill homespun coat would keep me dry almost as well as that my Val Kill homespun coat would keep me dry almost as well as a raincoat. For here we drove in an open car in the rain and then stood on the station platform with the rain coming down so hard that little rivers ran off the brim of my hat. In spite of all this, the crowd was so large that the President had to ask them to move back as the train left, for fear someone would be hurt.

It was interesting to see a banner saying something about the Young Democrats at almost every station stop. It really gives one quite a thrill to feel that young people are taking such an active interest in politics. Arriving in Albany was just like going back to the old governorship days. The car was put on the same old siding, and when we reached the executive mansion with Governor Lehman, Mrs. Lehman met us at the door. Behind her were all the old familiar faces of the staff that we had known so long. Even the orphans who live back of the mansion line of the residual prominent Atlantan, and Miss Marguerite Pullen, of College Park, took place in Heflin, Ala., last week, it was revealed here yesterday. How to Make Better Cough Remedy Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It is far better than anything you could buy leave the most reliable soothway Pine, the most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Eating Crow' in Georgia Remains Metaphorical

Crow may be the cream in the coffee of Dr. T. W. Stallings, Tulsas, Okla., physician-sportsman, who originated crow banquets last year. It may be on his table a pride and joy, the piece de resistance—a deli-cacy preferable to squab. To Georgians, however, crow is-well, just

How much can I trust him? Will it ever work out? Don't be hard on me. I am not a bad girl. M. H.

Answer: Dear child, the credulity of a girl in love passes understanding! How can you play with the thought of any but one outcome of thought of any but one outcome of this unhappy affair, or fail to see that the man is a cowardly cad? If he had entertained the faintest idea of marrying you, he would have done so long before now. If he had had a particle of honor he would not have exploited a mere slip of a girl, played on her pity, and cashed in on her inexperience. You have just one chance now and it you don't take it and quickly you will be "a bad girl" before you have finished. You can't play with smut without getting dirty hands. You can't go on and on having an Illicit love affair without coming to grief and finally to disgrace. Washington Belle Arrives Today

Atlanta Girls Make Big Hit As Sponsors for Tulane Team

By Sally Forth.

SCARCELY is there a happening of any importance at Sophie Newcomb College that Hilda Brown and Sarah Smith are not principal figures. These Atlantans are among that institution's most popular students. They made a "big hit," in college parlance, when they stepped out on the field as sponsors for Tulane University at the recent Auburn-Tulane football game.

Sarah, daughter of Marion Smith, who is called Sasa by her inti-mates, was attired for the game in a stunning black wool costume, which emphasized her blond beauty. Hilda, daughter of the Dow-dell Brown and the study of the dell Browns, was equally as striking, wearing a black moire dress featuring the smart tunic. They wore small black turbans and carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with green ribbon, Tulane's body vote at both Newcomb and Tulane, which was the first time in the history of the university that students have been permitted to elect sponsors for one of the varsity football games. Atlanta girls are roommates at Newcomb and both belong to Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity.

AN ELEVENTH-HOUR entry in the debutante circle is pretty dark-haired and dark-eyed Catherine Sherren Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leo Cummings, who was wel-comed into the Debutante Club at the meeting yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club. Better late than never, was the opinion of the young belle, who debated for several weeks over her choice of debuting with her contemporaries, or spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Curtis Leh-ner, the former Margaret Cummings, who resides in Boston.

The latest recruit in the ranks is a petite and charming brunette is a twin sister of Mrs. Edward Campbell Davis Jr., the for-mer Rita Cummings. The fact that one twin is married will solve many a problem for young swains, for the twin sisters are so identical in size, coloring, ap-pearance and personality that men were often chided for ask-ing Rita for a date when they meant to make a date with Catherine. It came to the point, how-ever, that the twins were forced to arrange their hair in different styles in order to be known to their friends.

Catherine attended Sacred Heart school and her charitable inter-ests are centered in the Girls'-Circle for the Tallulah Falls school and the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Guild. Although she has not resided in Atlanta very long she has established berself as popular and beloved member of younger set and during her debut year will be central figure at a number of social affairs. Her mother is the former Catherine Smith, of Albany, N. Y., and her father is a native of Middletown, New York.

INVITATIONS to Robyn Pee-I ples' debut party are engraved in old-fashioned script and over 100 were delivered ly hand to carry out the old-time idea. This custom prevailed in the days before the advent of automobiles. when family servants delivered invitations by hand to members

Fall GARDEN NOTES Fletcher Pearson Crown

We find that these upright shrubs usually look better if we use about three smaller shrubs to "face down" with. Shrubs used for this purpose do not necessarily have to be outstanding in themselves. They merely give sup-port to the taller, interesting shrub. Quite often we use phitzer junipers on either side of the entrance for our we growing plants. They are especial-velocity combined with nandia. The arberries have long been used in this osition, and while they answer the position, and while they answer the need, we must admit that they have been overused. The evergreen varieties are rather unusual and I recommend them. If you have a corner of your yard where the postman, the milkman, the paperboy and all the others who like to make short cuts, travel, then plant a few of these barberries with real thouse and I generates.

plant a few of these barberries with real thorns and I guarantee your grass will get a chance to grow.

Another low-growing shrub that is not often seen and is quite worth while is lonicera nitida. The name means a honeysuckle with shining foliage, Whatever you choose for your accent shrub on either side of your steps you can repeat at the corners of your house planting. Remember that I said if your house is very wide plant these shrubs in front of your house rather than extending them beyond the front wall. We also face these corner shrubs down in a very similar way to the entrance planting. Now between these trance planting. Now between these two plantings we find quite an open space, usually with windows in the house. The first thing to remember is house. The first thing to remember is that those windows were placed there to let in light and air, and if the occasion arose to be used for looking out of doors. So do not plant anything in front of these windows will an ultimate height that would ninder this purpose. Abelia can be well used here, even though it can grow vert tall.

Most business news was cheering to recovery proponents, although day-today traders seemed inclined to step out of some of their commitments on the theory the recent lengthy advance called for a corrective reaction.

The list got off to a fast start with the ticker tape falling in arrears for a while. A number of new 5-year tops were recorded. Then offerings began to appear in those issues that had previously enjoyed substantial upout the remainder of the session.

The Associated Press average of 40 turns. The volume dwindled through-out the remainder of the session. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 2 of a point at 71.5. Transfers totalled 1.888,130 shares against 2,050,600 last Friday. Of 944 issues changing hands 427 de-clined, 334 advanced and 183 were un-changed.

The petroleum group, led by Atlantic Refining, responded to brighter prospects for this industry. The prominent refining stock held a gain of 27-8 points at 30 3-4 in response to a September quarter statement showing earnings nearly 3 times those of the same 1935 period. Ahead a point or more also were Standard of New Jersey at 65 1-4, Shell Union at 24 3-4 and Texas Corporation at 44. Improvement was also registered by Socony-Vacuum, Standard of Indiana, Consolidated and Seaboard.

Steels apparently paid little attention to the official estimate of a moderate downturn in this week's mill operations. The magazine Steel pointed out backlogs were more than sufficient to cushion a slight decline at this time. One company's unfilled orders, it was added, are around 100,000 tons greater than on September 15.

Sharon Steel was up 2 3-8 at 27 1-2 and Wright Aernautical grained 5 1-9 ged.

General Trend of Market Is Steady as Losses, Gains Are Equally Divided.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(P)—The curb market wavered today after reaching a new top and finished with gains and losses about equally divided. Various industrials of the inactive division climbed to new high levels. Montgomery Ward "A" rose 2 1-2: 0 148, while gains of 1 to around 2 were established by Thew Shovel. Ainsworth, American Meter, American Potash & Chemical and Apex Electric. Aluminum Company of America held a fractional advance for a time, but finished 3 lower. Creole Petroleum, Lake Shore Mines, Sherwin-Williams and Wayne Pump gave up fractions, while American Cyanamid "B," Pan American Airways, Newmont and Great Atlantic & Pacific made a little progress. NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(P)—The ATLANTA SPOT COTTON. Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, middling, f. o. b., 12.75.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19 .- (AP)-Sluggish price movements and a small volume of business were the order of the day on the New Orleans cotton market today.

Never exceeding a 10 point range, options fluctuated narrowly within a few points of Saturday's final prices, ending from 1 to 5 points lower.

The decline was mainly caused by an increase in hedge selling late in the day. December finished at 11.91, March at 11.98, May at 12.01 and July at 12.02 bid. October, 1937, continued to change hands at a wide discount under near months.

While most of the news during the day was optimistic, it did not induce day was optimistic, it did not induce enough buying to keep prices higher. Among the favorable news advices were reports of heavy business in cotton cloths, a good/spot and export demand, and constructive cables from foreign markets.

One advice from Worth St. said that mills had a backlog of 4 months production for print cloths, estimated to mean that from 400,000,000 to 500,000,000 yards of this construction had been ordered.

500,000,000 yards of this construction had been ordered.

With operations in the futures market confined almost entirely to trade operations, hedging on the one hand and price-fixing on the other, the market presented an extremely dull appearance today. There was little speculative activity, either buying or selling.

Crop reports from the was little activity.

Crop reports from throughout the belt told of harvesting near comple-tion in many areas. Waelder, Texas, reported a short crop in that area. Eudora, Ark., advices said picking in its area would not be completed until the end of November. Good cotton weather was expected to wind up the picking in the Lake Providence, La., region by November 1.

COTTON DECLINES

COTTON DECLINES
ON N. Y. MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(P)—Cotton declined from moderate early advances today under hedge selling and liquidation.

January sold off from 12.03 to 11.90 and closed at 11.92 with final prices 7 points net lower to 1 higher.
The market opened 2 points lower to an advance of 4 with active southern selling in the near months and foreign buying in the distant positions.
Fairley active trade and Liverpool buying brought rallies of 4 to 8 points but when demand from other sources failed to broaden, prices slowly declined.

Spot and taxtile maketic failed to broaden, prices slowly de-clined.

Spot and textile markets were again reported active. Outside demand was limited apparently awaiting a tapering off in the crop movement. Some trade circles were discussing the possibility that reports of large ginnings and continued heavy movements of cotton into sight might cause an upward revision of corn deans.

vision of crop ideas.

Market Outlook

the profit-taking was absorbed was considered a cheerful item.

Meanwhile there was interest in the consumer problem which has resulted in:

1—Retail sales up as much as 20 per cent over a year ago.

2—Electrical equipment sales sharply higher, particularly in the field of refrigerators.

3—Automobile sales being well maintained, bringing forecasts of better motor car production in 1937 than in 1936.

This situation has been a sustaining factor for business for the past two years and now that heavier industries are joining in the movement further bullishness is engendered. The week-end news continued to lean to the bullish side of the market. Steel bullish side of the market. Steel production. according to the American Iron & Steel Institute, is scheduled this week at 74.2 per cent of capacity, a decline of 1.7 points from the previous week's six-year high, But the rate continues to be well above the 1935 level and forecasts are that the rate continues to be well above the 1935 level and forecasts are that the rate continues to be well above the 1935 level and forecasts are that the rate continues to be well above the problem of the problem of labor and higher cost of production are cutting into ter motor car production in 1937 than in 1936.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(A)—Setbacks of around 2 cents a bushel at Winne-peg did much to weaken the Chicago

4—Forecasts for Christmas sales the best since 1929.

In this connection one brokerage house today said:

"In so far as public consumption is concerned, the current boom is developing along the same lines as the new era, except that politicians and the government have more to do with it. Installment buying is fast approaching the new era level—WPA workers and most other small moneyed people are again living beyond their means. It will be but a comparatively few months before such buying establishes a record for all time."

This situation has been a curtain.

Tranged from 15 cents lower to a gain of 2 cents.

The United States wheat visible supply decreased 1,131,000 bushels the past week, but world shipments were larger, and so, too, were stocks of wheat on ocean passage to importing countries.

Auspicious weather for husking made corn prices go downward from the outset. Besides, there was some increase of receipts. Oats followed corn.

Rye showed relative firmness on action of hog values.

TOTALLY TAX FREE *

TODAY, during a period of record low interest rates, when high-grade, long-term tax-exempt bonds sell close to a 2.00% basis and second-grade issues, formerly in default, afford yields of as low as 3.25%, Philippine obligations continue to be available at prices yielding approximately 3.85%. These yields on Philippine bonds prevail in spite of a unique debt record, the strongest financial position in the history of the Philippine Government and the relationship of the United States Government to the bonds.

For a brief interval Tarzan wondered why they did not fling their clubs at him. Then the horrible answer flashed into his mind—they did not want to kill him; they wanted to capture him alive and subject him to the tortures which had wrecked

When Tarzan saw that the monsters no longer attacked him, he ceased his mad whirling. At once the savage brutes charged toward him again, so that he was forced to resume his gyrations. time he sought some respite, only to have the threats renewed.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Most of the monsters stood waiting patiently and grimly, knowing that victory would be theirs in the end. Tarzan was trapped. Perhaps no man living could withstand this strange siege longer he, but he was human, and sooner or later he must collapse!

By GEORGE BARTON.

John E. Wilkie, one of the ablest chiefs ever to preside over operations of the United States Secret Service made his biggest hit when he smashed a "perfect alibi" that was being used to cover up a million-dollar counterfeiting conspiracy.

Word came to him that bogus $100 bills were being passed in St. Louis during the time of the National Exposition in that city. One particular bill was traced to a "bookie" at the race track. He said it had been given to him by a stranger, but that he could recognize him if he ever saw him again. The booth of the bookmaker was surrounded by detectives and that afternoon a distinguished looking man came up and tendered a page of the counterform of the counterform of the same up and tendered a page of the counterform of the same up and tende and that laterhood a distinguished looking man came up and tendered a $100 bill as a bet on one of the horses. It was the man who had passed the bad bill the day before.

Taken into custody 15 other counterfeit bills of the same denomination. were found in an envelope in his pocket. He said his name was Sol

Maxwell and that he was in business every particular.

Wilkie considered the case so im-ortant that he hastened from Washportant that he hastened from Washington in order to take personal charge of the investigation. He treated Mr. Sol Maxwell with every consideration and said his only desire was to get his co-operation in running down the source of the bad money. Maxwell said that he had come to St. Louis to visit the Exposition. He registered at the Southern hotel and late on the afternoon of that day went to the Union Staof that day went to the Union Station to arrange for his return trans-

As he left the ticket window the As he left the ticket window the electric lights in the station were turned on and he saw a long white envelope on the tiled floor. Picking it up he found that it contained $3,000 in $100 bills. He decided to advertise it at once. He went to the office of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and inserted a notice in the "Lost and Found" column saying ne had found the money and would return it on proof of ownership. It was not claimed and he had started to bet the money on the horses. His story was verified down to the last detail. The ticket agent at the railroad station recognized him as the man who had bought transportation at about the time indicated and the "ad" taker at the Globe-Democrat "ad" taker at the Globe-Democrat said he had handed in the "ad" at 5 and the distinguished appearance of the man, Wilkie was not satisfied. He returned to his hotel and went into a mental "huddle" with himself. One circumstantial detail in Maxwell's story concerned the turning of of the lights in the Union station. It was the clue that solved the mystery. Wilkie got into touch with the elec-Maxwell and that he was in business in Chicago. He gave the names of a the lights had been turned on that number of banks and businessmen as evening. He was told that it was exactly 5:40. That smashed the Maxwell alibi.

In other words he had handed in the "ad" at the office of the Globe-Democrat 40 minutes before the time he claimed to have found the money. The detective invited Maxwell to dine with him that night. After finishing a delightful meal and lighting the inevitable eigars. Wilkie confronted him with the evidence. He told Maxwell that he understood the situation. The stranger was an expert engraver and in his pride he had attempted to compete with the smart references and said thy would testify to his good character. They did. His statements were confirmed in the statement of the statement in the statement is statement to state the statement in the stateme nally he urged him to make a clean breast of it.

The culprit broke down and con-fessed. He had been a reputable man, but was tempted to make easy money. If he had succeeded he would have made millions. But he had failed. made millions. But he had failed. The missing 40 minutes had smashed his nearly perfect alibi and the slip cost the counterfeiter five years in a federal penitentiary.
